

LADIES REBUFF CAR CONDUCTORS

So Many Object to Being Assisted On and Off Cars That Issues Rule.

ONLY ELDERLY AND FEEBLE

Conductors Must Not Help Ladies Who Do Not Belong to Either Class.

On account of the number of complaints and to save the conductors from further rebuffs from some patrons, conductors on all street car lines in Richmond and Manchester have been instructed to carefully observe the following order in the future:

"Conductors will hereafter assist children, elderly and feeble persons on and off cars, and must not attempt to assist ladies that do not appear to be infirm, unless they request assistance."

The custom of street car conductors assisting ladies on and off cars does not prevail in any other city to the extent that it does in Richmond. The men themselves instituted the custom, with a view of being courteous to ladies, and at the same time being better served by them. But lately, more and more complaints have been coming in from conductors who objected to being assisted on or off a car. In many instances the conductors have been rather curtly rebuffed and told to mind their business or keep their hands off. These men, being human, have naturally felt more or less hurt at such rebuffs, especially so since their action was voluntary.

The custom has grown here, as many ladies both ask and expect to be assisted by the conductor, especially when they are accompanied by an escort. It is impossible at all times for conductors to assist all patrons, and the company has referred the men to their rule book, which contains the rule as quoted above. The company still wishes the men to do all they can to assist ladies, but does not want the men put in a position of offering their services where it is not wanted, and where the men will lay themselves liable to be snubbed and the company to complaints.

In the summer, when open cars are operated, it is impossible for any conductor to assist all, and by following the rule laid down here, no one can feel offended or offended, and this is the object of the company in issuing this order.

CHARGES LAW HAS BEEN VIOLATED

Gompers Cites Case of Norfolk Navy Yard and Some Others.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, to-day made public a letter addressed by him on April 21st to the President, in compliance with the latter's request, in which he mentions specific instances of violation of the eight-hour law on government work. Typical instances are given by Mr. Gompers, as follows:

Navy yard, Norfolk, Va., where it is alleged the Pen Bridge Company, doing work at the navy hospital, worked their carpenters nine hours a day at reduced wages.

Charleston, S. C., navy yard, skilled mechanics and laboring men, required to work nine and ten hours.

Tybee Island, Ga., contractors required to work his men nine hours a day.

Navy dock building, New Orleans, men required to work ten hours; navy dock building at Algiers, Louisiana.

HOPE OF THE FARMER.

Small Crop Thoroughly Cultivated Key to Success.

Mr. Peter F. Turpin, of Podlar Mills, Amherst county, has sold his crop of tobacco raised last year. He planted six acres of 4,000 hills each, or 24,000 hills; this he properly prepared, putting in the very best condition for planting. During the growing season it was well cultivated and kept clear of worms and suckers; when cut it was well housed and properly cured and colored. When preparing for market it was well assorted and neatly handled. When put on the market it was in proper order and condition. He received the following results: Selling 7,000 pounds which brought $28.57, making the high average of $28.57 per 100 pounds. This was 1,547 pounds and $153.03 per acre of 4,000 hills of tobacco.

This is about as large number of pounds and the largest amount of money received per acre for any crop sold this year.

The above facts prove that small crops, properly cared for, are the hope of the planter. Mr. Turpin says he is in favor of the reduction of the acreage, making better tobacco and selling early on the warehouse floor in open market.—Lynchburg News.

The Produce Market.

The receipts of country produce on "the block" yesterday were small, and pretty much everything that came in had a Florida or South Carolina tag on it. Virginia stuff, except eggs, butter and chickens, have ceased to show up.

The abundance of the spring and the cool weather of the past few weeks have had a delaying effect on lower country truck, and the farmers who depend largely upon wagons for their green truck supplies at this time of the year have been unable to get except spring onions, and very few of them. "Nothing is coming from the north," was the cry of a retailer, and the demand situation. Country wagons are bringing in a few melons, apples and peaches, but beyond that they are adding to the supply in a very limited way.

FAIRMOUNT NEWS

Fairmount Methodist Church was the scene of a beautiful marriage yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, when Miss Jennie Virginia Thompson became the bride of Mr. John D. Smith. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, flowers and shaded lamps. The color scheme was green and white, and was very attractively carried out. Rev. R. B. Scott, pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. A. T. King, of Fairmount Baptist Church. Mrs. S. R. Gary presided at the bride's table.

The bride and groom, with their bridesmaids and groomsmen, were escorted to the altar by Rev. A. T. King. The ceremony was a simple one, and was very beautiful. The bride wore a gown of white silk, and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The groom wore a suit of dark blue, and carried a sword.

The wedding march from Lohengrin as the bride party entered, and "O Mendelssohn's" as the couple left the church. Miss Nellie Smith, niece of the groom, and Miss Clara Dunford, a close friend of the bride, were bridesmaids. They were beautifully gowned in lace robes over pink silk, and carried pink carnations.

Messrs. Robert Tiller and James Spicer acted as ushers. Mr. Tiller, a brother of the groom, was best man. The bride entered with her father, who gave her away. After which they left on a traveling suit, after which they left on an extended Northern trip, which will include Boston, Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia. They will return to May the fifth, and will be at home to their friends at the former home of the bride.
